

Senate Assured U.S. Has Plenty of Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States has nuclear warheads in the tens of thousands and the limited test ban treaty would help preserve a nuclear lead over Russia.

In giving his "unequivocal support" to the treaty which would ban all but underground tests, he assured the Senate the United States is determined to maintain a nuclear force that is "manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's."

"By limiting Soviet testing to the underground environment," he declared, "we can at least retard Soviet progress and prolong the duration of our technical superiority."

Thus in an opening, prepared statement for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and members of other interested committees, McNamara gave military backing to the treaty much as Secretary of State Dean Rusk supported it Monday on diplomatic grounds.

Some 12 hours before McNamara went to Capitol Hill, the Atomic Energy Commission announced the underground detonation at its Nevada test site of a nuclear device of low yield.

This was the first nuclear explosion since the United States, Britain and Russia signed the treaty a week ago in Moscow.

McNamara's defense of the treaty—an unprecedented public discussion of U.S. nuclear capabilities—was, in effect, a reply to those who fear the ban would work to the military disadvantage of the United States.

He gave detailed figures on nuclear weapons which until now had been carefully censored out of all published testimony.

Among the points McNamara made:

The United States has nuclear superiority, "is determined to maintain it and to achieve that we maintain a total number of

State Ranks High in Oil Production

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas' 5,844 oil wells and 390 gas wells turned out products valued at $87,528,000 last year.

Only 19 of the state's 75 counties produce oil or gas, but it is still Arkansas' biggest mineral industry (62.6 of the state's mineral production in 1962).

The figures are contained in an annual report released this week by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

The oil wells, located mostly in southwest Arkansas, pumped an average of 12.8 barrels a day per well, compared to a national average of 12 barrels last year. Most gas wells are in northwest Arkansas fields.

A total of 2,940 Arkansans were employed in the oil and gas industry last year, the report showed.

Production was down sharply in Arkansas in 1962, just as it was across the nation. The decline dates from the mid 1950s because of a domestic and worldwide over-supply of crude oil, combined with price erosion and rising costs.

Oil was discovered in Arkansas in 1921, and that year the state produced 10,473,000 barrels of crude oil. In the peak year 1925 Arkansas produced 77,398,000 barrels. Arkansas produced 27,594,000 barrels last year.

The average field price of crude oil per barrel in Arkansas last year was $266. The total value of crude oil was $73,376,000 and of gas, $4,740,000.

A total of 117 oil wells were drilled in the state in 1962, 48 gas wells, 203 dry holes and nine service wells for a total of 377 drilling operations.

Police Audit Will Go to LAC Friday

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Legislative Auditor Orvel M. Johnson said Monday the final section of an audit of the State Police Department may be submitted to the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee Friday.

The section covers the March 31-July 31 fiscal period. Previously the committee reviewed an audit of the agency covering July 1, 1961, to March 31, 1963.

Rep. Norman Wimpy of Craighead County requested the audit earlier this year after the agency put measures into effect to save money. The cuts were restored later and Gov. Orville Faubus said the State Police could borrow from other state funds if necessary.

The previous audit showed the State Police can expect to run a deficit this year, probably beginning in November.

The Audit Committee also is expected to look at audits of the state Medical Board, Arkansas Tech College, Arkansas State Teachers College, Confederate Home, Welfare Department, Arkansas Children's Hospital, Psychiatric Technicians and the state Cosmetology Board.

Police Discover Hideout of Train Robbers

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard announced today that police have found the hideout used by the gang which carried out the world's greatest mail train robbery.

The hideout is Leatherslade Farm at Oakley, 53 miles northwest of London. A truck and two army type vehicles were found there.

The police announcement said an intensive search was going on in the area but it appeared the robbers had left three days ago.

Some mail bags were found but there was no trace of the 2½ million pound ($7 million) loot taken from the Glasgow to London mail train robbery.

The brick farm house is in an isolated area. Its windows were blacked out. A large supply of food was found there.

Fingerprint experts and other police scientists were rushed to the area. The district was sealed off.

There were indications the bandit gang, believed to number 20 or 30 men, had been in the Buckinghamshire house several days and were trying to burn or bury something when they left in a hurry.

Earlier police officials hinted that a woman may have helped mastermind the robbery Thursday in which the loot was paper money.

Showers Hit Northwest Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms, dripped into northwest Arkansas ahead of a cold front this morning and were expected to reach southern Arkansas this evening.

Northwesterly winds were expected to bring mild, less humid air to northern Arkansas this afternoon.

Showers this morning and early this afternoon were expected to produce some rain in the dry northern portion of the state, but the cold front already had passed northwest Arkansas by mid-morning and little rain was expected there this afternoon.

No shower activity was predicted for northern Arkansas Wednesday and showers were expected to become less frequent in the south.

Some rain fell in the north Monday, but amounts generally were light. Eureka Springs got almost an inch and Gilbert and Newport had nearly a half-inch.

High temperatures Monday afternoon ranged from 91 at Portland to 102 at Fort Smith. Overnight lows this morning were generally in the 70s.

Cloudy skies today were expected to keep temperatures at lower levels than Monday in northern Arkansas.

Highs of 86-96 were predicted for this afternoon and lows tonight were expected to range 66 north to 76 south.

Arkansas R. Work Called 'Pork Barrel'

NEW YORK (AP)—Life Magazine said Monday the $1.2 billion Arkansas River navigation project was the "most outrageous pork barrel project in U.S. history."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus and two members of the Arkansas Congressional delegation expressed indignation over the article.

Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon said he didn't agree with the article.

Life said the guiding force behind the project was the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., whom it called "the unchallenged all-time king of the pork barrel."

The term "pork barrel" is often used to describe appropriations regarded as more for local patronage than for needed improvements.

Faubus said, "I can think of a lot of things in answer," adding that he preferred to wait until he read the article before commenting.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., labeled the article an "adroit exaggeration and distortion of the facts."

"In every intelligent assessment," McClellan said, "it is recognized that economic wealth and prosperity are achieved through the development of our natural resources."

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said, "Any project of this type adds materially to the economic wealth and the communities involved."

He said if the project were someplace besides Arkansas and Oklahoma it would not be termed a "pork barrel" project.

Barnett in Another Try at Meredith

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett was involved in a last-ditch battle today to keep James H. Meredith from becoming a fellow alumnus of the University of Mississippi.

The governor said Monday he recommended postponement of the graduation of Meredith—scheduled Sunday—pending an investigation into whether he violated a school directive against inflammatory statements.

Barnett said he made the recommendation to the State College Board because he felt Meredith did "clearly and unmistakably violate" the directive.

The governor said Meredith "publicly criticized the courts of Mississippi the juries and the public officials and said 'all this behind the scene trickery is adding nothing but encouragement to the lawlessness of the white supremacists'."

Meredith, 30, of Kosciusko, was the first Negro admitted to Ole Miss under federal court order. His entrance last fall under state protests triggered rioting that claimed two lives and injured scores.

He was not available for comment on the governor's charges.

St. Augustine Grass Damaged
Chinch bugs may be damaging some lawns of St. Augustine grass. The insects are about 1/6 to 1/5 inch long and are black with white wing covers marked with black. These insects suck the sap from plants causing yellowing of leaves and eventually death of the plants. Control by applying 6 to 12 ounces of 25% Diazinon wettable powder or 2 cups of 50% Sevin wettable powder to 1,000 square feet of lawn space. Wet the lawn down for best control.

Rodent Control
On Saturday of this week approximately 2,000 pounds of rat bait will be mixed for a county-wide war on rats. Poultry producers have found the anti-coagulant bait especially good for controlling rats in poultry houses. Fall of the year is the best time to get started because rats will move out of fields and woods as food becomes scarce.

Battle of L. R. to Be Re-staged
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Neil Bohlinger, former state Supreme Court justice and Civil War historian, said Monday the restaging of the Battle of Little Rock would be Sept. 8.

The original battle, won by Union forces, took place Sept. 10, 1863. It was a series of actions at Terry's Ferry, Bucks Ford and Fourche Bayou.

Bohlinger said the battle would be staged with cavalry, infantry, cannon and blank ammunition. He said it would be in the same general area.

The state Civil War Centennial Commission has promised him $3,000 for the project, Bohlinger said.

He said commitments for uniforms from Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee had been received.

Senator Is Threatened by Telephone

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sate Sen. Dan Sprick of Little Rock said today that an anonymous telephone caller threatened his life last week if he didn't drop his investigation into the fiscal affairs of Arkansas AM&N College in Pine Bluff.

Sprick said the caller, a man, told him "If you don't leave that college at Pine Bluff alone, you'll wake up like Thurman McCool."

McCool, a Pine Bluff businessman, was found murdered Jan. 11, 1962. The slaying is unsolved.

"They're not scaring me," Sprick said. "It makes me more determined than ever to get to the bottom of this thing."

Sprick contends that the college is "grossly mismanaged." He said he would have some progress to report involving his investigation at the state Legislative Audit Committee meeting Friday.

Sprick, a member of the committee, announced when the college audit was presented to the committee that he was going to investigate the college's fiscal affairs. "I told them I'm going to find out what's wrong," he said today. "I said the college was grossly mismanaged and I still say it."

Asked exactly what was wrong with the audit, Sprick said, "So many things are wrong. It's just all wrong." He said he would discuss it further at the meeting Friday.

Sprick said the college administration is responsible for the mismanagement.

AM&N is a Negro college. Sprick said he could not determine whether the man who telephoned him was white or Negro. He said the man hung up after voicing the single sentence.

"You know what my reply would have been," Sprick said. "You couldn't print what I would have told him."

Sheriff Sued for False Arrest

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Christine Adcox, 22, of Grant County, filed suit Monday in federal District Court accusing Grant County Sheriff Vernon Hope of falsely arresting her and imprisoning her. She asked $35,400 damages.

Her complaint alleged she was four months pregnant when Hope and a deputy took her from her car near Sheridan July 20. She said they questioned her more than four hours in the sheriff's office about a forged check.

After being released she had to spend four days in bed, the suit said.

Mrs. Glen Hollis, aged 56, a life-long resident of the Patmos area, was killed instantly about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday when the car which she was driving collided with another driven by Bracken Irwin, 23, Hot Springs, on Highway 67, about eight miles west of Hope.

Mrs. Clyde Arnold, Hope, a passenger in the Hollis car, sustained several leg lacerations. Irwin suffered lacerations and a broken leg. He was scheduled to undergo surgery on the leg later today.

Both were rushed to a local hospital by a Herndon-Cornelius ambulance.

According to State Patrolman W. T. Brewster, the Hot Springs car, going east, was across the center line and collided with the Hollis auto, traveling west, almost head-on. Both vehicles careened off the highway.

Officer Brewster said no charges had been filed pending further investigation.

Survivors included her husband, three sons, Billy Howard of New Iberia, La., Jerry of Jessup, Ga., Angelo Hollis of Hope; four daughters, Mrs. Mavis Hamilton of North Hollywood, Calif., Mrs. Verna Mae Bass of Gregory, Texas, Brenda and Blenna Hollis of the home; three brothers, Robert Walton of Patmos, E. 47 Jailed in Chicago Race Riots

CHICAGO (AP)—Forty-seven Negro and white persons were arrested on the South Side Monday by police who said they interfered with workers building mobile public school classrooms.

The frame, portable school buildings are being erected to relieve overcrowding of schools in the neighborhood.

The pickets maintained that the children could be accommodated in less crowded schools in white neighborhoods.

Police arrested 33 men, 9 women and 5 juveniles. Included were Negro comedian Dick Gregory, 31, his wife, Lillian, 25, and his writer, James Sanders, 28.

Charges placed against the group included disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. The juveniles were questioned by police and released.

Construction workers summoned police to the site and complained the demonstrators were interfering with work by standing or protesting themselves in the path of machinery or underneath the frame structures.

More than 60 persons were arrested at the mobile classroom site Aug. 2.

Police said Gregory was picked up at the scene of the demonstrations and released without being charged. He later was arrested after he returned to the scene.

Talking to newsmen in the Englewood district jail, Gregory likened the Chicago police department to that in Birmingham, Ala., where earlier this year he took part in anti-segregation demonstrations.

Testimony in Hurst Case Continues

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The government continued presenting its case in the income tax evasion trial of state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst in U.S. District Court today.

Monday, government attorneys called Hurst's garbage man, baby sitter and shoe salesman, among others, in painting a picture of the Hot Springs' lawyers exact expenses from 1956 to 1959, the years in which he is charged with evading $22,913 in taxes.

The government hopes to show that Hurst had income he did not report.

The government increased the number of exhibits submitted to 358 Monday and the number of witnesses to 120. It was estimated that the U.S. had about 30 witnesses left to call before the defense begins presenting its case.

The government will spend thousands on the trial. Witness fees continue to mount. Each witness receives $4 a day. Last week government lawyers paid $3,500 in witness fees.

A former part-time maid of the Hursts collected $349.60 for her trip from California to Hot Springs to testify about the salary Hurst paid her.

The government also paid $1,400 last week in jury fees. The jurors receive $7 a day for attendance, $7 for subsistence if they stay overnight in Hot Springs, and 10 cents a mile to and from their home. All 16 regular and alternate jurors are commuting.

Most of the witnesses called have to wait a day before they can testify. Therefore they draw an extra $4.

Court sources said the trial would last at least through the end of this week.

Other witnesses Monday included Hurst's milkman, various merchants who sold Hurst everything from a $2.58 door lock to a $22.98 pair of shoes. A music teacher said she was paid $245 for music lessons she gave two of the four Hurst children.

Air Group Assigned to Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Testimony before a House Appropriations Subcommittee has disclosed that the Air Force expects to assign a Strategic Air Command B58 medium bomber mission to the Little Rock Air Force Base.

The Air Force has asked Congress to approve an appropriation of $1,648,000 for facilities at the base. Most of the improvements would be needed to support the B58 mission.

In addition to the B58 mission, the Air Force told the committee that the base would be used to support a heavy air refueling squadron, strategic missile squadron and an Air National Guard mission.

Col. F. L. Luschen, directorate of Aerospace Programs, said the B58 mission now is located at Carswell Air Force Base, Tex., with the B52 strategic wing.

He said there is not enough space at Carswell to support the KC135s (aerial tankers) that are required to support the B52 force.

"Similarly," Luschen said, "this is a continuation of the strategic dispersal plan that we have been implementing for the past five or six years, where we want to have a single squadron of B52 bombers with the supporting tankers on the base."

He said B47s at Little Rock would be phased out as the B58s moved in. The committee detected that part of the testimony which said when the transfer would take place.

The funds asked for the base call for maintenance docks, technical shops, storage base for bomb pods and storage for ground support equipment.

Luschen took note of the fact that the base now has a B47 wing and two Titan II missile squadrons.

Hot Springs Takes Steps to Integrate

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Hot Springs Board of Education announced Monday that the resort city would become the third Arkansas city to desegregate its elementary schools this fall.

The board said elementary school desegregation would begin in the first and second grades. Pine Bluff will integrate its first and second grades and Little Rock will integrate the first and fourth grades.

The Hot Springs School Board said it had not determined how many Negro children would be affected or which presently all-white elementary schools would be desegregated.

In a statement released over the signatures of its members, the board said it felt it was of "paramount importance" that schools be kept under local control and incidents "such as have occurred elsewhere" be avoided.

It called on citizens for "understanding and support in carrying out this difficult decision."

The board said no member of the board "nor the superintendent of schools is in personal agreement with the principles embraced by the U.S. Supreme Court decision which makes this action necessary."

The board said all students in grades 3-12 would be assigned to schools they attended last year or schools where they participated in school-sponsored orientation.

Assignment applications were mailed to parents Monday, to be returned not later than Thursday. A breakdown of last year's enrollment showed 851 white students and 240 Negroes in the first and second grades.

The Rev. James Donald Rice, president of the Hot Springs Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, sent the board a registered letter May 23 requesting that desegregation begin this fall. He warned that the NAACP was ready to take legal action if necessary.

Parents of a number of Negro children applied for assignment to all-white schools last fall, but the board said their applications were too late.

In its July meeting, the board released the text of a Young Women's Christian Association resolution urging that steps be taken to insure orderly desegregation.

Two Escape Jail at Des Arc

DES ARC, Ark. (AP) — Two men sawed through a bar of their cell Monday night and escaped from the Prairie County Jail at Des Arc.

Sheriff E.O. Hamilton said Robert Davidson and Richard Williams, both in their early 20s, were being held on two charges of burglary and one of possession of stolen merchandise.

Hamilton said the two men reportedly came to Arkansas from California last year and had lived between Hazen and De Valls Bluff. He said they were arrested in January for a Hazen burglary and were out on bond when they were arrested again Aug. 2 in connection with a robbery July 3

A total of about 15 school districts in Arkansas now have some Negroes attending school with white students, but Little Rock, with 114 Negroes in high schools and secondary schools, is the only city with a sizeable number.

Would Solve Issues Locally

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Monday that "problems should be solved on the local level, if possible, to keep them from becoming greater" and added that such a system could greatly reduce the "many great conflicts" that now exist.

Faubus spoke at a luncheon meeting of 400 delegates to the 13th annual conference of the Southeastern Association of Tax Administrators.

Specialization, perhaps, "is the reason for the great rise in conflict of opinion," Faubus told the group. "There is a great necessity for us to be as understanding of others as possible so those conflicts of opinion will not become greater."

Congolese Storm City Prison

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (AP)—Rioting Congolese workmen stormed the Brazzaville city prison today and liberated all prisoners in the face of police fire which killed at least five persons and wounded several others.

Diplomatic sources said the firing broke out when striking workmen went to the prison to protest the arrest Monday night of some union officials.

Hastily mobilized police tried to force them back, but they smashed into the prison as gunfire crackled around them.

There were sounds of several heavy explosions shortly after the prison liberation.

Shortly after noon, the city had quieted but there were fears violence would break out anew.

The workers staged a general strike today and at a mass meeting of about 3,000 called for higher wages. They also charged graft in President Fulbert Youlou's government and demanded an end to official corruption.

Heated condemnation of Youlou was accompanied by shouted demands for several changes in the government.

The rioting was confined to demonstrations against the Youlou government. Whites who were on the streets were neither injured nor molested, according to diplomatic sources.

No Americans were reported involved or caught up in the rush of the crowd, many of them barefooted.

Negroes Picket United Nations

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventy civil rights demonstrators picketed the United Nations Monday, calling on countries to halt construction of exhibits at the 1964-65 New York world's fair until more Negroes and Puerto Ricans were hired for the work.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said picketing might be extended to sites at the fair in Flushing Meadow Park, Queens.

The demonstration by whites and Negroes in the U.N. plaza was aimed primarily at African and Latin-American nations. Pickets carried such signs as, "African pavilions built with lily white labor."

A spokesman for the Joint Committee for Equal Employment Opportunity, representing six civil rights organizations, said that as of last week no Negroes or Puerto Ricans were employed at the world's fair pavilion sites of Guinea and Sierra Leone.

POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL SEEKS SELF-EXPRESSION

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I have everything a 13-year-old girl could ask for. I am relatively wealthy, get above average grades in school and, though not popular with everybody, have some good friends. I'm gifted in music, drawing and writing, but coming from an uncommunicative family, I pour all my emotions and deep inner feelings into poems and stories, hoping to share them with others, to let them know that there are noble and beautiful things still left in this world.

Yet when I express this desire to my parents, teachers and friends, they just laugh and say I'll eventually outgrow these childish dreams.

Am I too young to write stories and articles and poems for the magazines and papers? Do I have to wait to get my working papers before I can sell my writings? If I choose a pen name, must it be verified by the court? Is it necessary to go to a school of journalism in order to become a reporter? —Poor Little Rich Girl

Dear Girl: The answer to all your questions is—no. If you think you want to be a writer, you'll have to learn to avoid clichés, and number one on your list should be, "Poor Little Rich Girl." First of all, it's a hackneyed phrase, and secondly, it's not applicable to you. Poor—no. Little—possibly. Rich—yes.

By your own admission, you are richly endowed in many ways, not the least of which is the ability to express your emotions in writing.

When I was your age I kept a diary and it served the therapeutic purpose of providing a release for the many feelings I couldn't communicate to others. I also wrote poetry. Only time will prove whether you'll ever become a fulfilled, professional writer. There's nothing to be lost except a bit of ego in submitting your work to a magazine or newspaper. Try your local newspaper first. Are you familiar with the magazines, "Poetry," "Calling All Girls" and "Seventeen"? How do your stories and poems stack up with the contents of these publications?

"Seventeen" conducts a short story contest which is open to boys and girls from 13 to 20 for unpublished manuscripts between 2,000 and 3,500 words in length. Many a young writer has been launched by winning one of the 13 prizes offered.

Don't be discouraged by rejection slips. They represent the inevitable battle scars that every writer acquires. Does your school put out a newspaper or magazine? If so, you'll have a better chance of success in one of these publications than in the open market.

If you're really serious about writing, you're already an insatiable reader. Don't limit yourself to the books you're required to read for school. Read all types of literature, current as well as classic. Read magazines and newspapers to find out exactly what ingredients go into a good piece of writing.

Are you a word collector? A varied vocabulary is a must for any writer. Correct grammar, punctuation and spelling are equally important. One little book I highly recommend is "The Elements of Style," by Strunk and White. Other suggestions are in my leaflet, "So You Want to Write," which you can get by sending me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Helen: My mother-in-law and I got along fine for three years then, last Labor Day, we had a big argument about how to raise my kids. She said I wasn't fit to be a mother or wife. Since then she and her two daughters just keep their eyes on the ground and walk by, when we meet.

We've bought a new house but she's never come to see it nor her grandchildren, then tells people I'm to blame. When I confront my husband with these facts, he feels I'm at fault. He still sees his mother and sisters.

My friends say forget the past and go along too. Should I? —Wife of a Mommy's Boy

Dear Mommy's Boy Wife: Your friends are right. Patch up your relationship with your mother-in-law and your entire family, including you, will feel better. For get about the argument and invite her to come and see your new house. There is enough ill will in the world already without two members of the same family adding to it.

Dear Helen: I'm 16 and going steady with a boy who's really wonderful except for one thing: when I do or say something he doesn't like, he slaps me on what ever part of my body is nearest him, never hard but—this embarrasses me very much, for he does it wherever we happen to be. What can I do to make him stop? I wouldn't break up for anything. —Humiliated

Dear Humiliated: Tell your "slap-happy" boy friend that his type of familiarity is breeding your contempt. Ask him to express his criticism in words rather than actions.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this

Says Notes in Butts Case Not the Same

By DIN MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — A real estate agent testified today in the Wally Butts libel suit trial that notes offered in evidence were not the same ones George P. Burnett had last fall after allegedly overhearing the conversation of Sept. 13.

The testimony came from John Carmichael, a former associate of Burnett's who identified himself as an Atlanta real estate and insurance agent.

Carmichael said Burnett told him last Sept. 13 that he had accidentally been connected into a long distance telephone call and heard Wally Butts, former Georgia athletic director, giving football data to Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

Attorney Allen Lockerman, one of Butts' lawyers, handed Carmichael the seven pages of notes which Burnett has testified he hurriedly jotted down while listening to the Butts-Bryant conversation.

"State whether or not those are the notes George Burnett had immediately following the telephone conversation," Carmichael donned his reading glasses and glanced over the notes.

"No sir. These are not the same notes Mr. Burnett had," Carmichael said, shaking his head negatively.

On cross-examination, defense attorney Welborn Cody questioned Carmichael about testimony he gave under oath prior to the trial. Carmichael confirmed he had said he did not take the notes in his hand but he insisted he looked at them.

The testimony came in the seventh day of Butts' $10 million libel suit trial against Curtis Publishing Co., because of a Saturday Evening Post article charging that he and Bryant rigged the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

Carmichael had begun his testimony Monday after a court recess called when Butts burst into tears on the witness stand. Butts broke down after again denying that he helped rig the 1962 game.

Charges Pile Up on Man of McGehee

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) - Charges against Eugene Redwine, 28, of McGehee, have increased by 13 since Thursday because of a spree in which he led officers on a high-speed highway chase and was apprehended Saturday night about nine miles north of Hamburg.

The charges include two at Bastrop, La., four in Desha County, four in Drew County and three in Ashley County.

Drew County Sheriff Jack Towler said Monday he would release Redwine to face robbery and aggravated assault charges in Louisiana. He charges could put Redwine behind bars for 17 years.

If convicted, Arkansas officers will place detainees on the ex-convict, Towler said.

Redwine was being held on several charges of burglary and grand larceny when he escaped July 29 from the Chicot County Jail at Lake Village.

He is charged in Ashley County with speeding, reckless driving and carrying a concealed weapon; Desha charges are two counts of burglary and grand larceny. Authorities in both counties said they might drop charges if Redwine is convicted in Louisiana, because the Louisiana offenses carry heavier jail sentences.

In Drew County he is charged with two counts of burglary and grand larceny.

Redwine and Phillip Fisher, 35, of Eudora, broke out of the Chicot County Jail after being arrested July 25 in connection with a series of burglaries in southeast Arkansas. Fisher was captured Friday near McGehee.

Redwine was tracked down by bloodhounds Saturday night after he fled on foot when he wrecked a stolen car seven miles north of Hamburg, Arkansas and Louisiana authorities had been pursuing him at speeds reaching 100 miles per hour.

He was jailed at Hamburg, but was removed to jail at Monticello for security reasons. Although armed with a .32 caliber pistol, Redwine surrendered peacefully.

More charges are expected to be filed against him.

BANCROFT'S BANCO

BY NELSON C. NYE

© 1963 Nelson C. Nye. Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Bancroft calls upon Banker Finchbone to identify him when he closes the deal on some horses which he will use to stock the ranch in which he has acquired half interest.

It took us six days, living off the land, to get them in sight of the Running Bee.

It was hard, sweaty work which appeared to demand that I be everywhere at once. I must have swallowed enough dust riding after those nags to have sustained a whole family of prairie dogs.

The pair of hands we'd put on were just the barest bit better than no help at all. The terrain was rough, badly eroded, where it wasn't grown to brush, and the temperature, replete with glare, must have hung unbudgeably well above the hundred mark.

Dorrus spent most of the time he was in my sight making out to marvel at "the fool waste" of all that money I had "flung down a rat hole." He couldn't seem to get over it.

"I can't figger you," he said one time when I'd pulled up to get my bearings. "Fifteen hundred for a ragtag of broomies that wouldn't bring 50 pesos set right down at the glue works! What was you thinkin' of?"

I'll bet he asked that question 50 times. Sometimes he went at it from a different direction, but the gist of this pummeling was always the same. It did no good to answer. What times he paid any notice at all, he put on such a pitying look staring at me the words wizzled up before I got halfway through.

Everytime we stopped for grub he was at me. "If you'd only said what you was up to," he grumbled. "I coulda saved you half of it an' corraled enough whickers to've cornered the market! God fries, Benson, what good are they?"

Once, when I got mad enough to tell him they were pretty, he got to making such weird noises I looked for him to strangle. "I give in they're pretty," he snarled when he got breath enough. "A polecat's pretty but I don't know any nut that would shell out $1500 to surround himself with 'em! If we ever git down to hev'in to eat

THE YOUNG FELLOW SMILED. "Of course. I'm sure he is. So I'll take the bank's check and we'll consider the matter settled."

If all the Waggoner hands were as sharply shrewd as this young blue eyed cuss the outfit's future would have been assured even without the lake of oil their drills had gone into while they'd been trying to scare up water for their cattle.

The cold jawed youngster didn't want, any part of us, not even at double the going rate.

But that was the size of it. The man from the Waggoner outfit wouldn't even help line them out toward the ranch. We finally wound up hiring a couple of hands we dug out of a saloon.

Tom Rock was the only stallion I had purchased. There were five chunky geldings, the rest mares and colts. The geldings were described by the youngster as "green broke" . . . the rest of those hides hadn't even been curried.

Finchbone peered around at me again. "He has an account at my bank in the name of Bancroft Benson."

The youngster, considering me, chewed on that rough several moments of silence. "Will it cover an obligation of $1500?"

Finchbone appeared somewhat startled, I thought, but declared vigorously enough that he imagined it would.

"These horses," he said, "are from the Waggoner ranch and sent down here for Bancroft Benson, collect on delivery. If the bank's satisfied this gent is Benson I'll take a cashier's check and we'll consider them delivered."

It was the banker's turn to re-examine his position. He said, testily, flushing: "I don't think we need to go to all that bother. He's good for the amount."

The young fellow smiled. "Of course. I'm sure he is. So I'll take the bank's check and we'll consider the matter settled."

If all the Waggoner hands were as sharply shrewd as this young blue eyed cuss the outfit's future would have been assured even without the lake of oil their drills had gone into while they'd been trying to scare up water for their cattle.

White County to Vote on Hospital

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) - White Countians vote Sept. 10 on a proposed 50-bed county hospital to cost $1.2 million.

Also on the ballot will be a two-mill tax to finance the county's share of the project, which is $800,000. A similar amount has been applied for under matching federal Hill-Burton funds.

County voters rejected a $900,000 bond issue in November, 1961 to build a 100-bed hospital to have cost $1.8 million.

Non-Communist opposition parties introduced the motion, which did not specify any basis for the attempt to censure the government. Nehru's Congress party has an overwhelming majority that will reject the motion when it comes to vote, probably next week.

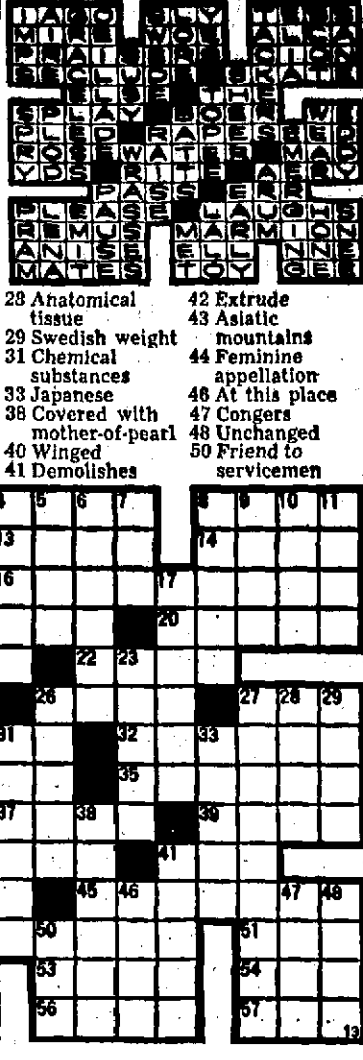

Mostly I just let him rant. He certainly convinced the pair of loafers we hired. They plainly considered Bancroft Benson a Blue Monday? Not for the Los Angeles Dodgers. It's their favorite day.

First, it's often baseball's day of rest and the Big Three of the Dodger pitching staff say they need it. Second, the last two Mondays the National League leaders have sat on the sidelines and watched some of the also-rans knock off their principal opposition, the San Francisco Giants.

The seventh-place Philadelphia Phillies did the job Monday, rallying for a 3-1 verdict over the Giants that increased the idle Dodgers' lead from 3½ to four games. A week before, ninth-place Houston turned the trick, edging the Giants 5-4 and increasing the idle Dodgers' lead from 4½ to five games.

Then, too, there's the rest angle. And Johnny Podres, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale say they badly need it. The record bears them out. Their combined recent record is 5-6.

The Phillies' Johnny Callison and Lefty Chris Short were the principal Giant-killers in the last episode, Short beating the Giants for the first time in his four-year major league career and Callison belting a decisive two-run eighth inning homer.

Boston edged Minnesota 5-4 and ended a nine-game losing string while Pittsburgh knocked off Houston 4-2 in the only other games scheduled in the majors.

Short, who had an 0-5 lifetime record against the Giants, spaced eight hits, struck out eight and walked only one. He got all the support he needed from Callison and Roy Sievers.

Willie Mays got one of the Giant hits and extended his hitting string to 14 games.

The loss was charged to Jim Duffalo, his first of the season.

Lou Clinton, restored to Boston's right-field job in a line-up shuffle, bashed two homers and drove in four runs as the Red Sox snapped their long losing string and a six-game Twin winning streak.

Jerry Lynch drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the first inning and his defensive replacement, Manny Mota, singled in another in the eighth in Pittsburgh's conquest of Houston. Bob Friend won his 14th of the season.

Gets 14 Years for Kidnaping

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Van Ara Barrickman Jr., 33, of Birmingham, Ala., was sentenced Monday to 14½ years in prison for the kidnaping of a North Little Rock, Ark., woman.

Miss Carolyn Coors, 37, the victim, watched as Barrickman changed his plea from innocent to guilty and was sentenced.

Miss Coors was abducted Jan. 27 from the parking lot of a North Little Rock hospital and was released unharmed in Birmingham the following day. Barrickman was arrested 24-hours later. He has a criminal record in Alabama dating back to 1947.

Musial Plans to Retire at End of Year

By TOM PENDERGAST

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Stan Musial, 42, wrote his baseball obituary Monday.

"Baseball has been my life," said the tearful Cardinal legend in announcing his retirement at the end of this season after 22 years in the major leagues. "I love St. Louis and I've had fun all of these years."

Choked with emotion, The Man chose as a setting for his retirement announcement the picturesque country quiet of Grant's Farm, estate of Cardinal president August A. Busch Jr. Busch was out of town and Branch Rickey, baseball's old warhorse and Redbird senior consultant, was not present.

But Stan's St. Louis teammates were, along with their families. They gave Musial a standing ovation when he moved to a battery of microphones and faced television cameras at the annual Car-

Man Identified as Oklahoman

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The nephew of a man found dead last week in Washington County identified him today as James S. McCaffrey, 57, of Henryetta, Okla.

The nephew, Michael McCaffrey of Gentry, said his uncle apparently died after wandering away from their camp on the Osage River last May while they were employed as bean pickers in the southern part of the county.

He said no one was in the camp when his uncle left and that he had assumed the man got tired of picking beans and left to find another job.

The camp is only a few hundred yards from the spot where a farm er found the body, which was clad only in shorts.

Washington County Sheriff Arthur Davidson said when the body was found that he thought "some body put him there." There were no marks on the body and a chemical analysis failed to disclose a cause of death.

Coroner Donald Baker said he probably would rule on the death within the next few days.

Convicted Slayer Granted Stay

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Associate Justice Ed F. McFadden of the Arkansas Supreme Court granted convicted slayer Jerry James Johnson, 21-year-old Little Rock Negro, a stay of execution to allow an appeal.

Johnson was convicted of first degree murder May 29 in Pulaski Circuit Court in the knife slaying of Mrs. Aliene Arrington of North Little Rock in a robbery of her store July 31, 1962.

Johnson was scheduled to die Sept. 6 in the electric chair at Tucker State Prison Farm.

dinal picnic.

"This is a happy occasion in a way," he said, "and an unhappy occasion in a way. But I'll be associated with the Cardinals in a continuing capacity."

Red-eyed, the man from Donora, Pa., said his retirement was inevitable.

"Our outfield is in good hands," he said, "and I don't think a fellow can expect to play longer than 22 years in the major leagues. But I've had the best job in the world. The thrill of putting on a major league uniform, hitting, fielding and playing ball is greater than any other job I could ever have."

He said that he would continue to operate his St. Louis restaurant and manage a baseball bat firm. Musial's almost unparalleled feats on the diamond gained him sports immortality.

He has played more games with one major league club than any player in history. He holds National League records for runs, 1,939; games, 2,987; hits, 3,610; doubles, 721; times at bat, 10,881; and runs batted in, 1,937. He holds the major league record for total bases, 6,099.

Three times The Man won National League Most Valuable Player awards—in 1943, 1946 and 1948. Seven times he held batting titles—357 in 1943, 365 in 1946, 376 in 1948, 346 in 1950, 355 in 1951, 335 in 1952 and 351 in 57.

Last year he played in 35 games, batting .330. Playing fewer games this year he was hitting .260 Monday but was fourth among the Cards in RBI's with 44.

Musial's last regular season game will be in St. Louis Sept. 2 against Cincinnati.

nuclear warheads, tactical as well as strategic, in the tens of thousands."

In very large weapons, the Soviets appear now to have some advantage in technology, but not in delivery ability.

The Soviets probably have no missile at this time which will deliver a 100-megaton warhead to ICBM ranges although even under a test ban, the Soviets could elect to develop such a missile.

The United States prefers to rely on smaller megatonnage bombs used in multiple numbers rather than build giant-size weapons. However, "the United States, without any further testing, can develop a warhead with a yield of 50 to 60 megatons" for delivery by its B52 bombers.

McNamara said "the net of the relevant factors is that the U.S. nuclear force is manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's."

"The U.S. force now contains more than 500 missiles—Atlas, Titan, Minuteman, Polaris—and is planned to increase to over 1,700 by 1966. In addition, the U.S. has Strategic Air Command bombers on air-alert and over 500 SAC Bombers on quick reaction alert."

"By comparison, the consensus is that today the Soviets could place less than half as many bombers over North America on a first strike; the Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many ICBM missiles, and their submarine launched ballistic missiles are short-ranged, require surface launch and generally are not comparable to our Polaris force. Between now and 1966, it is estimated that our ballistic missile numerical superiority will increase both absolutely and relatively."
